Visitor Visa 600 Explained: Types, Conditions, and Key Benefits

Going to Australia? If you want to see the Sydney Opera House, visit your family in Perth, or have a short business meeting in Melbourne, then the Visitor Visa 600 helps you get into Australia for a little while. The Visa 600, also known as subclass 600, is designed for Australians for temporary visitor status when they want to come to Australia for tourism reasons, visit someone who lives in Australia, or do limited business activities in Australia.

So what do you need to know when applying for the Visitor Visa 600? Let's break it down easily so you will understand each part of the Visitor Visa subclass 600 as well as its different streams (categories). In addition to understanding how these categories work, keep in mind the restrictions you may have while holding a Visitor Visa subclass.

What is a Visitor Visa 600 (Subclass 600)?

The Visitor Visa 600 is one of the most commonly issued Australian visas, allowing individuals to visit Australia for temporary purposes. There are several different types of Visitor Visas, which are used frequently for tourism or business-related visits to Australia.

Visitor Visa (600) allows you to:

- Visit Australia for tourism

- Spend time with family or friends

- Conduct business meetings and/or attend other business events

- Stay in Australia for either 3 months, 6 months, or 12 months (based on the approval of your visa).

The Visitor Visa (600) is one of the most popular visas used by travellers to Australia, and in particular, by parents visiting their children who reside in Australia. It is important to note that the Visitor Visa (600) is only intended for temporary visits and that you will need to show evidence of your intent to return to your home country after you have finished your visit to Australia.

Types of Visitor Visa 600 Streams

Depending upon the traveller's objectives, there are several streams under the subclass 600 visitor visa classification. The correct stream must be selected for the application to have a possibility of approval.

1. Tourist Stream (Outside Australia)

A tourist visa subclass 600 for visitors coming to Australia for the purpose of travelling on vacation or visiting with family and friends is the most common type of subclass 600 tourist visa. Applications must be submitted from outside of Australia for this stream.

2. Tourist Stream (Inside Australia)

Even though the traveller is in Australia on another visa, the traveller may be able to apply for a subclass 600 visitor visa under this stream to extend their stay.

3. Sponsored Family Stream

This stream is available to people visiting their family members who are permanent residents of or citizens of Australia. The sponsoring relative may be required to supply a bond for some applications.

4. Business Visitor Stream

People who plan to participate in short-term business activities in Australia, such as attending meetings or conferences or negotiating contracts, may apply for a visitor visa under this stream; however, business visitors are not permitted to engage in paid work while in Australia.

5. Frequent Traveller Stream

Some foreign passport holders are eligible to apply for a visitor visa under this stream and will receive multiple entries to Australia over a period of several years.

Understanding which stream applies to your specific circumstances will have a dramatic impact on your ability to receive an approval for your application.

Key Conditions of Visitor Visa 600

While the Visitor Visa 600 offers flexibility, it comes with strict conditions. Violating these conditions can result in visa cancellation or future refusals.

The Visitor Visa 600 has more flexibility than other types of visas, but also has strict rules. If you violate any of these rules, you could have your visa cancelled and/or be refused entry to Australia at a later date.

Some of the most common rules are:

1. No Work (Condition 8101)

You cannot work while you hold this visa. In some cases, even volunteering could be seen as a violation of this rule.

2. Study Limitation (Condition 8201)

You can study for up to three months. However, you cannot study for longer than that.

3. No Further Stay (Condition 8503)

Some applicants receive the No Further Stay condition, meaning they cannot apply for another visa while in Australia.

4. Genuine Temporary Entrant Requirement

You must show that you will only be in Australia temporarily and will return to your home country after your visa expires. Your application will be denied if you do not provide sufficient evidence of your ties to your home country.

Eligibility Requirements

To apply for subclass 600, you must:

- A valid passport
- Sufficient funds to support the duration of your visa
- Health and character requirements
- Demonstration of strong ties to your country of origin (employment, ownership of property, family...

When applying under the Sponsored Family Stream, your sponsor must also meet the eligibility criteria.

Immigration officers will carefully evaluate your financial capacity as well as your travel history. An effective application will tell an accurate story of, "I am visiting temporarily and will be returning to my home country.

Processing Time and Costs

Visa 600 costs vary based on the type of application submitted; however, the application fees for the government typically range from a few hundred dollars (AUD) to thousands of dollars (AUD).

The time it takes to process an application to receive approval for a Visa 600 varies and can take weeks or many months. The factors that usually affect the processing of an application include:

- Completeness of your documents
- Country of application
- Seasonal demand
- Background checks

Submitting your application correctly will result in fewer delays during processing.

Key Benefits of Visitor Visa 600

Why choose the tourist visa subclass 600 over other short-term visas? Here are the major advantages:

Why do you select a Tourist Visa Subclass 600 instead of another type of Short Stay Visa? Below are the key benefits of the Tourist Visa Subclass 600:

1. Flexible Stay Duration

Depending on your circumstances, you may be granted up to 12 months.

2. Multiple Entry Options

You may be allowed to enter and exit Australia multiple times during the visa's validity.

3. Family Reunions

Perfect for parents visiting children and grandchildren in Australia.

4. Business Opportunities

Attend meetings and explore partnerships without committing to long-term migration.

5. Simple Application Process

Compared to skilled or partner visas, subclass 600 is generally more straightforward.

Common Reasons for Refusal

The Visitor Visa 600 is available to most visitors to Australia. Unfortunately, many applicants have had their applications refused.

Here are some common reasons that applicants may have their applications refused:

- Weak financial evidence
- Insufficient proof of employment
- Poor travel history
- Incomplete documentation
- Doubts about genuine temporary intention
